Updated: 04-25-2012

The average annual percentage rate (APR) on new card offers remained unchanged at 14.91 percent Wednesday. This is the ninth week of 17 this year interest rates haven't budged.

Wednesday also marks the second straight week that promotional credit card offers remained the same for all 100 of the cards that CreditCards.com tracks. That includes promotional balance transfer offers, introductory purchase rates and annual fees.

This recent lack of movement on credit card promotions is relatively unusual. For example, in the first four of the last six weeks, at least 11 out of 100 cards advertised new promotional balance transfer offers and eight out of 100 cards featured new introductory purchase rates.

The CreditCards.com credit card rate survey (permalink: <http://www.creditcards.com/rate-report>) is conducted weekly, using offer data from the leading U.S. card issuers' websites. Introductory offer periods and regular interest rates will vary with applicants' credit quality and issuer risk-based pricing policies.
